I'm honored to be asked to write a letter of recommendation for Henry Reyna. I first met Henry when he taught a Concealed Pistol License course in 2014. I was impressed with his knowledge at the time of this course and the amount of extremely useful information I left with.

I recently approached Henry to speak to a group of executives and assistants at The Dow Chemical Company where I am employed. Henry once again provided useful information on responding to acts of violence and overall preparedness. Henry's presentation was informative, useful, and sparked additional interest for further training within the group.

In addition, I have asked Henry for a personal training program on self-defense for myself and two daughters and look forward to gaining even more useful information and techniques to help keep my family safe.

Henry has my strong support and recommendation for personal and organizational safety programs. His wealth of knowledge and how to handle situations would absolutely benefit anyone who he has the pleasure of working with.

Warm regards,
